Food strike successful

CHICAGO (from Stich Berkowitz) — A successful boycott of the campus by the students took place at the University of Illinois-Chicago Circle on Friday, February 4. For the first time in the history of the school, the student body was united in a common purpose to demonstrate discontent with the prices and quality of the food. Over 90% of the enrollment boycotted, the food service continuing at a loss.

The school newspaper, the Chicago Illinois, was suspended earlier in the week by the dean of student affairs, according to the acting editor and the president of student government. The acting editor of the paper claimed that the administration had ordered the publication of the newspaper. "We are doing this because it is not in the best interests of the students," he said.

South students gauded at Harvard

CHICAGO (from the JOINT community newsletter) — An antiwar demonstration on the New Hampshire campus was was assisted by Mr. Engelhardt in arranging a picket line outside the Claremont House, at which time he was the original model for life of a Bond character, "Goldilocks." There are plans to charge more than a large number of SDS activists. The administration of the University of Illinois-Chicago Circle, as well as the state government, are considering legal action.

Administration of Schools

CHICAGO — Peter Driscoll called the JOINT office to report an unusual event in one of the meetings. The JOINT government had set up a Selective Service System for selective service purposes. The Selective Service was set up to turn over their transcripts to the Selective Service System when requested. The JOINT government had been set up to turn over their transcripts to the Selective Service System when requested.

Students at Harvard were handed blue cards as they went through the Selective Service line that requested the Selective Service System when requested. Free university started

PHILADELPHIA — The University of Pennsylvania has established a Free University of Philadelphia, which began classes on February 1st. The university has an enrollment of over 600 students, participating in more than 40 courses (two-hour, one-hour, and one-half hour), as well as being a meeting place for several groups.

The amazing large number of students in this first orientation and registration program has been confirmed Penn. SDPs analysis of widespread interest among students with the education officer was joined and many students and faculty were joined by the school newspaper and many student organizations in their support of the Free University. Apparently, a group of F.U.P.S., emphasizing a wide range of subject matter, was formed in conjunction with the JOINT community newsletter. In all decisions affecting the new university, the students were to have a major say.

Trusted ban SDS speakers

CHAPEL HILL — Gov. Dan K. Moore and a committee of trustees of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, on February 7th, canceled proposed speeches on the campus by Herbert Aptheker and Frank Wilkinson that were to be sponsored by the SDS chapter.

Aptheker is a leading scholar on Negro history and theology and the National Chairman of the United Farm Workers of America. Wilkinson is the national chairman of the National Committee to Abolish the Draft.

Gov. Moore announced his opposition to the speakers last week and a committee stated that SDS had only invited Aptheker and Wilkinson to cause controversy. He also contended that SDS would serve no valuable educational purposes.

The action was taken in spite of the objections of the university and student body presidents, faculty, and students who had signed petitions in a 24-hour period in support of "freedom of speech." The governor and trustees were using the university's repressive authority to suppress critical voices that came from state officials and citizens who advocated the overthrow of the United States Constitution, was a Communist, or who had taken part in any activity that was contrary to the law.

The school newspaper, the Wisconsin Daily Cardinal, said that the administration's ever-changing positions due to the administration's ever-changing positions. Many questions have arisen due to the administration's ever-changing positions due to the administration's ever-changing positions.

University of Pennsylvania votes on legislative investigations

CHICAGO (from the JOIN community newsletter) — A successful ballot initiative was sponsored by the JOINT committee, according to the administration. This event was the first initiative to be taken in the school's history, to give students the power to vote on important issues.

The JOINT committee was planning to conduct a vote on three issues: the selection of the new university president, the choice of a new store for an office, and the need for more parking.

People Decide

On Monday, February 7, a group of faculty and SDS members submitted a proposal to withdraw from off-campus to pass out leaflets near the university campus. The JOINT committee, the University of Pennsylvania, and the Organic Union of Students of the University of Pennsylvania, were among the groups that supported the protest.

The students were concerned about the campus's role in the Vietnam War and the university's responsibility to the community.

Police stop Viet meeting

EVANSTON, Ill. — A successful meeting on Vietnam at the University of Illinois-Chicago Circle was stopped by Police on February 7th. The meeting, held in the main auditorium, was ordered to cease after the speaker, a professor of international relations, and the local park commission that the university's purpose was political interference.

Several meetings were planned though and were suggested by the JOINT community newsletter. There was the possibility of making a civil liberties appeal to the Free Speech Act.

Liberal pragmatism?

A group of VISTA volunteers in New York have been a major supporter of the Free Speech Act. They have been successful in getting the Free Speech Act to pass.

A successful Free Speech Act has been passed, and we'll be opening a new store for an office. In addition, the administration has promised to allow the Free Speech Act to be used for the first time in the school's history.

Part 2: Notes on the pathology of the organization

Following is the second part of Todd Gitlin's analysis of the problems of the last NC. Gitlin, a former president of SDS, last week presented points 1, 2, and 3 of what he considers to be the main factors.

4 Inadequate or pathological efforts to cope with the situation. Soon or later someone proposes a document to show that the existing structure can't do the job it was supposed to do. That starts the cycle again.

3. But the most hopeful sign through all this is the publication of the December conference papers, the production of several new papers, Chris Holcomb's "Vietnam: Any Way Out?", Joaquin Sanchez's "The New Radicals and Participation Democracy," Carl Oglesby's "Vietnam and the Unions," and "Churches and the War," Peter Drucker's "Voice in Washington," and the reprinting of Potter's "The University and the Cold War."

The thing to keep in mind is that the question of whether a regional pronouncement is more broadly applicable is not too important in itself. The important thing is that any pronouncement is more broadly applicable in itself. The important thing is that any pronouncement is more broadly applicable in itself. A new printing of the SDS pamphlet "Apartheid" will be ready by the time you receive this. The pamphlet will be priced, shipped free, and available only to groups that can distribute it. If you are interested in ordering a limited number of copies, contact the National Office.

The pamphlet will be useful to groups who are preparing to address the national meeting to be held on April 1 in Washington, D.C., and to those organizing an educational campaign around the time of the Sharpeville Massacre.

The pamphlet is titled "Apartheid: The Reality," and it contains an outline of the reasoning behind the Apartheid Act, a discussion of the legal and political aspects of the Act, and a short summary of the economic effects of Apartheid. It also includes a brief history of the Nationalist government and its policies, as well as a discussion of the role of the foreign powers in promoting Apartheid.

The pamphlet is available for $1.00 per copy, or for $10.00 per hundred.

Additional copies are available from the National Office.

REFERENCES TO THE SHARPEVILLE MASSACRE

The Sharpeville Massacre, which took place on March 21, 1960, is a tragic event in South Africa's history. It was a protest against the passes law, which required all black South Africans to carry passes at all times. The pass law was a form of apartheid that was enforced by the Nationalist government.

The Sharpeville Massacre was a result of the government's attempt to enforce the pass law. A large group of black South Africans, including women and children, gathered to protest the pass law. The police used tear gas and rubber bullets to disperse the crowd, and in the course of the violence, 66 people were killed and over 1,000 were injured.

The Sharpeville Massacre is a symbol of the brutality and the inhumanity of the apartheid system. It is a reminder of the need for continued resistance against apartheid and for international solidarity with the struggle for freedom in South Africa.
